

SIMONE TOGNI – Anev

Simone Togni is President of ANEV – Associazione Nazionale Energia del Vento – (Italian Wind Energy Association) since 2011, of which he was secretary general from 2003 to 2010. He is member of the Board of Directors of IVPC Service and Head of Institutional Relations and Business of the IVPC Group (Italian Vento Power Corporation), leader company in Italy on development, management and production of renewable wind energy.

He graduated in Law at Sapienza University of Rome and took PhD in Public Law at the Law Faculty of Perugia University;
Research Fellow at the Industrial Engineering Department of the Perugia University for the project “technical and normative aspects for environmental protection from air pollutants, licenses and environmental certifications for manufacturing facilities.

Lecturer, as expert in RES (Renewable Energy Sources) and environmental issues, in numerous University Masters, Workshops and Academic Conferences.
Author of numerous articles and publications on legal issues, environment and energy.